CAMPBELL, ARISTON, ALA., October 15th.

George Blittner and I went churning yesterday. We filled our churns with live water and started up the mountain. I've churning so high a mountain before. It was rugged and steep, but when we reached the top we were well repaid for our journey. I wish I could point you to the beautiful view we enjoyed. Far to the North and East we could see mountains all in their peaks hidden by clouds—white far below the valley was immediately visible. N. W. and then clouds floating between us and the valley cut off the view. We explored ourselves very much. We got all the absolute and personal things we could get. I was very much surprised. There are very few wild animals here; but we saw plenty of tracks. We killed one large black bear.

My sister is the medical with measles. I want to see him. He said all of the rest of the school had been taken—plenty of live water and milk and she wanted it. I increased in three hours a day. We drilled good fat in haggard and tired, but we will not get used to it and our muscles are strong.

Get the Ladies' Every day, and you can see how I appreciate it. It's the best news to a letter from home. J. A. B.

TERRIBLY MUTILATED.

An Explosion of a Tank of Acetylene Gas in the Residence of Ernest Tyler, Near Nashville.

SHREVEVILLE, Ky., Oct. 12.—Ernest Tyler, one of the wealthiest and most prominent citizens of Shelby county, was terribly injured at noon Tuesday at his residence, six miles west of this place, by the explosion of a tank containing acetylene gas. He had just completed a modern residence and installed an acetylene gas plant for illuminating it. While examining the apparatus it suddenly exploded with a loud report. Mr. Tyler's face was horribly mutilated, his jawbone being fractured in three places. All his teeth were knocked out, and one eye was badly lacerated. He also sustained a severe contusion at the base of the brain. Physicians say he may recover unless complications arise, but will be disabled for life.

SURPRISE IN WASHINGTON.

Why Was Gen. Breckinridge Relieved of Command?—Printed in a Liberator by Discharging the General.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The "Printed order" posted at the war department Tuesday naming the general officers to be honorably discharged from the volunteer army contained the name of Maj. Gen. John C. Breckinridge. The announcement caused great surprise among the friends of the general, and one and all are unable to account for it. The "original order" made public on last Friday contained the names of Maj. Gen. Copinger, Hawkins and Kent, but not that of Gen. Breckinridge. Gen. Breckinridge was only a short time ago assigned to the command of the troops in the Kentucky camps, and not even the rumor of his being relieved has been heard at the war department. Why he is relieved is a mystery.
